FOREWORD

THERE is a powerful, all-pervasive belief system in Christianity that has been founded upon the wrong translation of a single Greek word. We are not referring to the many different translations of the Bible from the original Greek text, of which there are many, let alone the hundreds of interpretations that flow from these translations.

What we are referring to here is the mistranslation of a single word, one that has been repeated since at least 1611 when the King James Version (KJV) was first printed – and in every other version of the Bible since then, whether into English or any other language.

At first it would seem that such a small translation error of a single word could not have much impact upon Christianity as a whole, especially since many Greek words are translated differently by the various Bible publishers. Besides that, Greek is such a rich language that in the process of expressing the full meaning of its various words into other languages we could hardly expect much uniformity as in precise or near-precise word for word translations. This would be an impossible expectation.

Why then are we pointing out a single translation error? What difference could this make to the numerous doctrines and dogmas that constitute the Christian faith? As we have pointed out, this may be a very small error, but it has led to a belief system within Christianity which contradicts one of the most important statements made by Jesus Christ, the founder of the faith. And because it is a statement that almost every Christian knows, and believes, and has influenced the way in which they think about the future, especially His return – it is without doubt one of the greatest translation blunders in the history of the New Testament (NT) scriptures.

We are not saying that this has been done on purpose. For what reason this simple conversion from a four-letter Greek word into English (and all the other languages that the NT has been translated into) has not been done correctly is something we cannot answer. Because it affects the authority and veracity of this book, we are raising it here, at the beginning, lest many will not read it; for have we not all believed that when Jesus said, “But of that day and hour no one knows, not even the angels of heaven, but My father only” (Mt 24:36), He was saying that no one could know the day and hour of His coming – not now, not tomorrow, not ever – until He comes.

Because this is a book about that future day and hour, and how it has been precisely encoded in every verse of the Bible, including the Old Testament Hebrew and New Testament Greek texts, and every Bible written in English or that uses the A to Z alphabet, it is important to rectify this error.

Of course, this is not the place to go into much detail about such a doctrine-shattering phenomenon. That it is a true and accurate refutation of the doctrine of imminency, that is, that Jesus can come at any day and hour, and that no prophecies need to be fulfilled before He comes, and no signs or events can indicate precisely when He is coming, is very easy to prove.

There is no necessity to debate this matter because we are not dealing with the translation of the original Greek word itself, but with the manner in which it has been translated. We are speaking about the Greek word εἶδω (eido) which has been translated as “know” or “knows” in most English Bibles, as in “But of that day and hour no one knows” (Mt 24:36) or “Watch therefore, for you do not know what hour your Lord is coming” (Mt 24:42).

We presume that these verses, and others like them, are familiar to the reader. They present an open and closed case for the doctrine of imminency, not so? This is what millions of Christians have believed, because this is what their Bibles are telling them what Jesus said. But have they ever taken the trouble to find out what He really said? Surely they can rely upon the integrity and wisdom of the thousands of translators and publishing houses throughout the last four centuries, at least.

As we have stated, we do not know why they have got this so wrong because any interlinear Bible (which shows the origin of the translated word from the original Greek) will indicate that “eido” is defined in Strong’s Exhaustive Concordance of the Bible under the number G1492, is a primary verb to be “used only in certain past tenses.”

It really is that simple. The equivalent Greek word is “ginosko” which is used in the present or future tense. So when Jesus is supposed to have said, “But of that day and hour no one knows” (eido, past tense only) why has it been translated into the present or future tense, because this has changed its meaning? As the past tense, or preferably the perfect past, it should have been translated as “But of that day and hour no one has known [until now].” But as it stands in every Bible, it means that no one can know – not now, not tomorrow, not ever – until He comes.

If this is what Jesus meant (that we cannot know), as we have all believed [until now], the Holy Spirit would have inspired the gospel writers to use the word “ginosko” [Strong # G1097] as in “Therefore if you will not watch, I will come upon you as a thief, and you will not know (ginosko, future tense) what hour I will come upon you” (Rev 3:3).

Therefore there is no need to reject the message in this book on the basis that Jesus prohibited this knowledge. In Matthew 24:43 He stated that unless we know the hour of His coming, we cannot watch. For this reason this book has been written, that knowing the day and hour of His arrival and watching for it, we will not allow our houses to be broken into, and suffer loss.

PART 1

THERE are many reasons why people will not want to read this book.

Even though there has never been a book written like this before;

Even though it shows how the dates of the most significant events of the 20th and 21st century have been encoded in the Bible in both the Old and New Testaments – including our common human speech;

Even though it explains the historic and prophetic meaning of 9/11, how its timeline has been created and where it leads to;

Even though it reveals how the precise times of the rejection, death and resurrection of Jesus are recorded in Genesis 1:1;

Even though it proves that the great pyramid of Gizeh has been designed to reveal the time of the Rapture;

Even though it explains all the time-prophecies in the Bible like Hosea's "two days," Daniel's "seventy weeks" and Jesus' "times of the Gentiles" – including His generational prediction over Israel;

Even though it identifies the beginning of the modern Jubilee cycle associated with the land of Israel and the return of the Messiah;

Even though it establishes that there is a powerful and credible relationship between the numbers in Strong's Concordance and all the Hebrew and Gregorian years associated with the physical and spiritual redemption of Israel;

Even though it ties together all these things, including the blood red moons of the lunar tetrads (as discovered by Pastor Mark Biltz) and the shmita years of Isaiah 9:10 (as discovered by Pastor David Wilkerson and expanded by Rabbi Jonathan Cahn);

Even though the 22 letters of the Hebrew alphabet and the Hebrew words of Daniel 9:27 (the seven-year Middle East Peace Treaty) are a concealed cryptogram for "the time of Jacob's trouble";

Even though these dates and times are undergirded by a real, live vision based on the words that God spoke to Habakkuk, and all the world saw the end of this vision on 9/11;

Even though parts of this vision have already been fulfilled on its appointed days in 2001 and 2008 when the world's financial system began to collapse;

Even though the foundation of this vision is based upon the exact days predicted and fulfilled in Daniel 9:25-26;

Even though the coding system in this book produces the dates of Christ's First and Second Advents from the words of the Bible;

Even though the statistical odds of matching words and dates through this coding system are so great that they have “zero probability of ever happening” – and yet they do happen thousands of times;

Even though the book’s chronology fits the dispensational, pre-Tribulation, pre-Millennium understanding of prophecy;

Even though there is no biblical reason for not knowing or understanding these appointed times other than the mistranslation of certain words spoken by Jesus, such as “But of that day and hour no one knows” (which is also a parable of time, commonly known as an idiom);

Even though there are numerous Scriptures that would make Jesus a liar if He said that no one can know the time of His return;

Even though the Holy Spirit (the Spirit of truth) was sent to tell us “things to come,” which includes all things known by the Father, including the appointed times and seasons of Christ’s return;

Even though Amos said that God will not do anything “unless He reveals His secret to His servants the prophets,” and Jesus said that we are no longer servants but friends, “for all things that I heard from my Father I have made known to you” – including the appointed times and seasons of His return;

Even though Paul said that we are “not in darkness, so that this Day should overtake you as a thief” and Jesus said “if you will not watch, I will come upon you as a thief, and you will not know what hour I will come upon you” (which means that if we do watch we will know the Day and the Hour);

Even though the precise days and hours of the Messiah’s appointments with mankind were set out some 3500 years ago in the Book of Leviticus, and four of these were fulfilled at His First Advent (on their appointed dates), leaving the remaining three to be fulfilled at His Second Advent (on their appointed dates);

Even though the four appointments of Messiah’s First Advent were fulfilled at the end of the 69th week of Daniel (which year was calculated by Sir Robert Anderson from the vision given to Daniel), and the remaining three appointments are associated with the 70th week of Daniel (which years are calculated from the coded vision of Habakkuk);

Even though men might not believe the vision of Habakkuk, because the 70th week of Daniel begins with an event that has already been fulfilled (the Oslo Peace Accord of 1993), and will be completed in a Comprehensive Middle East Peace Treaty (based on its land for peace formula and interim nature), its future day will not be a surprise to those who watch;

Even though Daniel 12:4 shows that his time-predictions would be unsealed at the time of the end using computer technology (which explains why so many dating attempts have been wrong, and why Jesus Himself did not address this question except in the parable format);

Even though the book has gone to great lengths to explain all these things, and sets out all the above concepts as simply as possible, so that even a child can understand them;

Even though nobody has challenged the mathematical or biblical integrity of this coding system (as they do with the skip codes), or the eschatology and cryptology in its pages;

Even though all the codes and chronologies in this book work together with all the time-prophecies to produce a logical and verifiable countdown to the return of the Messiah – men have found a host of unbiblical reasons why they should not read or believe it. Most of them can be explained by the following words of Jesus:

<sup>10</sup> And the disciples came and said to Him, “Why do You speak to them in parables?” <sup>11</sup> He answered and said to them, “Because it has been given to you to know the mysteries of the kingdom of heaven, but to them it has not been given. <sup>12</sup> “For whoever has, to him more will be given, and he will have abundance; but whoever does not have, even what he has will be taken away from him. <sup>13</sup> “Therefore I speak to them in parables, because seeing they do not see, and hearing they do not hear, nor do they understand ... <sup>16</sup> “But blessed are your eyes for they see, and your ears for they hear; <sup>17</sup> “for assuredly, I say to you that many prophets and righteous men desired to see what you see, and did not see it, and to hear what you hear, and did not hear it” – Matthew chapter 13.

WHEN the Lord said to me, “Write the vision and record it on the tablets” (Habakkuk 2:2) – it was a number parable. And it was dated. Therefore seeing this vision of numbers and dates, they cannot comprehend it for these things are anathema to them (see Part 4 for a brief summary of this vision and its coding system).

I have listed these ‘Even thoughts’ to show you that no matter what knowledge concerning the time of the end is extracted from the Bible, if it has anything to do with the date of Christ’s return it will automatically be rejected by the majority of Christians. This is not a complaint, just a fact, one that has kept the only true religion in the dark concerning the time of its greatest climax, the return of its Messiah.

This is a paradox. Because of the message of the Bible, Christianity is the only religion that knows the events and their chronological sequence that lead to the return of Christ and the end of the age. The Bible also dates these appointed times in the plain text. Yet when it comes to applying these dates, many do not see, do not hear, and do not understand!

PART 2

IN this brief introduction we have some serious questions to answer. Why did the global financial system begin to melt down in 2001 and 2008? Was this foreseen in the Bible, and where does it lead to?

As we have already pointed out on our leading page “ABOUT” the book, there is a pattern to these events that conforms to the Hebrew calendar. For it was on the last day of the years 5761 and 5768 that these things took place. This being so, are there any grounds for believing that these dates are part of a cycle of events that occur every seven years on the Hebrew calendar, particularly the last day of this cycle?

To answer this question we first need to find out whether there is such a chronological pattern in the Bible and whether it has any relevance to what we are seeing. Even though some might have a great deal of difficulty accepting this, especially those who fail to see the significance of the Jews being back in their land, this does not alter the evidence that is before us, and the meaning of that evidence.

From a purely statistical perspective, the fact that two identical world-changing events have happened on the same day on the Hebrew calendar at this interval, ought to raise our awareness levels regardless of our theology. For those who do know the prophetic significance of the rebirth of Israel in 1948, and are aware that there is a specific seven-year cycle that is tied to the land of Israel, these world-changing events ought to send them scrambling for answers – unless they are asleep.

Let us take a closer look at this phenomenon. It is called the Jubilee cycle, and because the Jews are back in the land of Israel, it is very much alive, and counting down the days to the coming of the Kinsman Redeemer.

“AND the Lord spoke to Moses on Mount Sinai, saying, ‘Speak to the children of Israel, and say to them: “When you come into the land which I give you, then the land shall keep a sabbath to the Lord””’ (Lev 25:1-2).

This Jubilee law required that the land be planted and reaped for six years and rested on the seventh year. Then, after seven cycles of seven years, on the tenth day of the seventh month of the fiftieth year, the Jubilee trumpet would signify the great Year of Jubilee when all debts would be cancelled and all the land would be returned to its original owners.

If we read this full account in Leviticus chapter 25, we will notice that the land of Israel is central to this law. It is the law of the land, and though it might have been suspended when Israel was out of the land, it has never been annulled.

Therefore when the Jews came back into their land, or more accurately, when the land that was taken from them was legally restored to them by the nations of the world (as represented by the League of Nations) – the Jubilee cycle, knowingly or unknowingly, came back to life, and for the first time in nearly 2000 years a definite, deliberate and divinely ordained timeline was established to measure the time to the end – the Final Jubilee.

If we study this cycle and understand it, we will come to the conclusion that the Messiah of Israel, who is also their Kinsman Redeemer, will only return to the land of Israel and restore it to its original owners in a Year of Jubilee. He is not the ‘Jesus can come any day’ Messiah that the Christian church is waiting for, for He has set His appointed times in His Word, and He will not break it for anyone, not even the church!

So when did the modern Jubilee cycle begin? If we study the history of the early twentieth century, we will discover that the land called Palestine was under the jurisdiction of the Turkish Ottoman Empire until it was formally dissolved at the Treaty of Lausanne in July 1923. Therefore, that part of Palestine envisaged in the British Mandate of 1922 (which excluded eastern Palestine) only became the de jure possession of the Jewish people in July 1923, and the Jubilee cycle began at the beginning of the Hebrew year 1 Tishrei 5684 on 11 September 1923.

According to this timetable, the first Year of Jubilee (50th year) in the modern era was in 1973. Thereafter the seven-year cycles ended in 1980, 1987, 1994, 2001 and 2008. These sabbatical or shmita years are perfectly in sync with the current Jubilee cycle in the land of Israel. This is significant because the Jewish people (knowingly or unknowingly) are adhering to an accurate chronology (legally and biblically) that will enable them to meet with their Kinsman Redeemer on the Day of Atonement in the Year of Jubilee (Leviticus 25:9-10).

So now, for the first time, we can begin to answer some of our questions. Because these seven-year cycles begin on the Hebrew new year called Rosh Hashanah, they end on the last day of the year. Therefore when Wall Street crashed on 17 September 2001, beginning a week that saw the worst stock market crash since 1929, since the Great Depression, it was not only the last day of the Hebrew year 5761, but the last day of a sabbatical Jubilee cycle.

And when it crashed again on 29 September 2008 and set another record loss for a single day, and began the Great Recession, the greatest global financial crisis in the history of the world, which continues to this day, it was not only the last day of the Hebrew year 5768, but the last day of a sabbatical Jubilee cycle. We now know that these great meltdowns of the global financial system have not happened by chance but by design, so we ought to know where they are leading us.

PART 3

SO where are they leading us? If they are the outworking of this ancient economic cycle that is tied to the land of Israel, and the redemption of Israel, we have our first clue where they are leading us. If we simply follow this cycle to its conclusion it will tell us:

The Lord said to Moses: “And you shall count seven sabbaths of years for yourself, seven times seven years; and the time of the seven sabbaths of years shall be to you forty-nine years. Then you shall cause the trumpet of the Jubilee to sound on the tenth day of the seventh month; on the Day of Atonement you shall make the trumpet to sound throughout all your land. And you shall consecrate the fiftieth year, and proclaim liberty throughout all the land to all its inhabitants. It shall be a Jubilee for you; and each of you shall return to his possession, and each of you shall return to his family” (Leviticus 25:8-10).

Since Jesus will not return to the land of Israel other than as its Kinsman Redeemer, that is, the One who will set the Jewish people free from the tyranny of Antichrist, and return their covenant land, all of it, “from the river of Egypt to the great river, the River Euphrates” (Genesis 15:18), if He does not come in the following Year of Jubilee, at the end of the 7th sabbatical cycle, He will not come for another forty-nine years!

If we project the current Jubilee cycle to its conclusion, that is, when “seven times seven years” have passed since the last Year of Jubilee in 1973, we will arrive at 1973 + 49 years = 2022, the next Year of Jubilee.

THE TIMELINE OF THE JUBILEES

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	1	2	3	4	5	6	7
	5 th SABBATICAL CYCLE						6 th SABBATICAL CYCLE						7 th SABBATICAL CYCLE

Notice how the two greatest crashes of the global financial system to date are in sync with the following Jubilee cycles: The first meltdown at end of the Hebrew year 5761 in 2001 coincided with the end of the fourth sabbatical cycle or shmita year; the second meltdown at the end of the Hebrew year 5768 in 2008 coincided with the end of the fifth sabbatical cycle or shmita year (the Hebrew years in this table are the end of the year).

Now consider this. The sixth sabbatical cycle coincides with the end of the Hebrew year 5775 in 2015; and the end of the seventh and final sabbatical cycle coincides with the end of the Hebrew year 5782 in 2022.

In other words, if this cycle is accurate, and 2022 is the year of the Final Jubilee, the return of Christ, it becomes clear that the world is headed for a major financial and economic disaster in the year 2015.

We are not saying something here that is hard to believe. Those who understand the consequences of the worsening sovereign debt crisis in Europe, the unstoppable and rapid demise of the world's global currency, the US dollar, and many other aspects of the financial markets, know that the end is near – they just don't know when it is coming. But the Bible does, because it has been predicting this outcome for thousands of years.

The ultimate question that needs to be answered is how do we prove all this? Despite the uncanny relationship between the Wall Street crashes and the Jubilee cycles, and the steadily deteriorating economic crisis, and all the other signs that the Bible indicates will accompany the return of Christ, we cannot base this prediction on a single timeline. We need more evidence.

Perhaps Jesus Himself has provided this. During His famous Olivet Discourse He said to the Jews: “Now learn this parable from the fig tree: When its branch has already become tender and puts forth leaves, you know that summer is near ... Assuredly, I say to you, this generation will by no means pass away till all these things take place” (Matthew 24:32-34).

Because this is only a brief introduction, we are not able to do justice to this astonishing prediction. This is a very specific time prophecy. What Jesus is saying (as the Date-setter) is that the events He is describing on the Mount of Olives are going to impact on the audience before Him, the nation of Israel (the fig tree), at the time of the end. At that time, everything He is telling them will be completed within one generation from the date of its future rebirth (tender branch putting forth leaves) in the Hebrew year 5708.

The key to solving this riddle is the length of a generation. If we knew for sure how many years He was referring to, it would be the easiest of calculations to determine the precise year of the end. That Jesus was setting a date here is an inescapable and obvious truth, except to those who believe in the doctrine of imminency or some other distortion of the Word of God.

Moses, the man of God, had this to say about a generation: “The days of our lives are seventy years; and if by reason of strength they are eighty years, yet their boast is only labour and sorrow” (Psalm 90:10).

Since the average lifespan of the developed world is currently 75 years, we believe that Moses was also referring to this end-time generation. The average of 70 and 80 is 75, and 5708 (birth of Israel) + 75 years = 5783. This Hebrew year begins in September 2022 (see table on previous page).

PART 4

MORE than any other time in history, the development of the internet has facilitated an explosion of end-time predictions that fill the blogosphere. Thousands are claiming to know when Christ is coming, and every timeline is deemed to be conclusive and irrefutable evidence of this incontestable fact. Perhaps we all feel this way about our work, or our visions and dreams.

However this does make it harder to tell the story of a true, biblical vision that was designed by God to encapsulate this countdown in a code – one that appears in every verse of the Bible from Genesis to Revelation. Perhaps this does set it apart from the muddled waters of Bible prophecy, but only if it's the truth. Once again, because this is only an introduction, I can only give you the barest details of this vision. It is recorded in the Book of Habakkuk where the Lord speaks to the prophet and says: “Write the vision and record it on the tablets” (2:2). It was an instruction, and this is its fruit.

But what vision was I to write, and when would it come? As I studied the Hebrew words and converted them into numbers (an ancient Jewish practice called gematria), they looked like a date, a coded date for 28 August 2001. I would have to wait for it. True to its code, some six months later on this very day, a sequence of unusual events began to unfold on the mountains where I live, including a great fire. Fourteen days later, another great fire destroyed the Twin Towers of America. This date was also encoded in the Bible, and so was the day in the middle, 4 September 2001.

When I interpreted this one day equals one year vision, it showed that its first day, 28 August, was the year 2001; its middle day, 4 September, was the year 2008; and its last day, 9/11, was the year 2015. And when I laid it over the years of the Jubilee cycle, it was a perfect match! (see table page 9).

The Lord had also said to Habakkuk, “For still the vision is for the appointed time, but it pants to the end and does not lie” (2:3). As I continued to study this timeline over the next ten years, I discovered that 9/11 was the appointed time of the vision, that is, the fixed, appointed time set by God for the beginning of the 7 year Peace Treaty of Daniel 9:27 (see next page).

This is reinforced by the words that follow, “... but it pants to the end and does not lie.” The word “pants” is the translation of the Hebrew word puwach. It means to puff or blow with the breath of air, as in kindling a fire. On the timeline of the vision, the great fires that began on 28 August 2001 and 9/11 would not go out until they were extinguished at Armageddon.

Of course, many will not believe this vision, just like they do not believe the thousands of dreams and visions that saturate the internet. Why should they? But before they discard it as just another private interpretation, they need to consider this. When I referred to a code that appears in every verse of the Bible, I was referring to 28 August 2001, the first day of the vision. Why would this be so? Why is this day so important that the Author the Bible has numbered and structured all its words in such a way that they produce this single date in all of time?

If you will bear with me, if you will allow me to decode the words of the Bible without providing all the details, I will quickly show you the power of this vision. Let us go to that place where God created time, and the calendar: “Then God said, ‘Let there be lights in the firmament of the heavens to divide the day from the night; and let them be for signs and seasons, and for days and years’” (Genesis 1:14).

“Seasons” is translated from the Hebrew word mowed, the fixed, appointed time. It is the same word used when God said to Habakkuk, “For still the vision is for the appointed time (mowed).” Is it possible that the appointed time of this vision, or a way to calculate it, has been encoded in the same words that spoke the universe into existence, and created the calendar?

Without explaining how this code is derived (the book will do this), the sixteen Hebrew words of Genesis 1:14 produce the following number.

Then God said, “Let there be lights in the firmament of the heavens to divide the day from the night; and let them be for signs and seasons [appointed times], and for days and years”

ויאמר אלהים יהי מארת ברקיע השמים להבדיל בין היום ובין הלילה והיו לאתת ולמועדים ולימים ושנים

24	18	12	24	14	8	48	6	12	8	135	48	24	1	48	7

AD 2013184152412618752

This is a code for 28 August 2001, the beginning of Habakkuk’s vision. In all of time, it is the only date that is found at the beginning of time – literally. Why is this? Because its function is to create the countdown to the end of time as we know it – the appointed time of the vision.

Just as we use the calendar, any calendar, to mark the passage of time, as in calculating ahead from a certain fixed day, so God has marked the vision in the same way. On its timeline, 28 August 2001, or 2013184152412618752, is that certain fixed day, and we are quickly going to show you how it can calculate ahead to reveal the precise years of the 70th week of Daniel.

This is the seven-year framework for the false covenant or peace treaty that will be brokered by Antichrist between Israel and many Arab/Muslim nations as revealed in Daniel 9:27. It will end with the Battle of Armageddon when Christ returns to the earth.

THE TIMELINE OF THE VISION

Note that there are 14 days from 28 August 2001 to 9/11, (the appointed time), and 21 days from 28 August 2001 to 18 September 2001. This means that there are 14 years from 2001 to 2015 (the Peace Treaty of Daniel 9:27) and 21 years from 2001 to 2022 (Armageddon). By simply multiplying 2013184152412618752 by 14 and 21, then adding the two answers, we create a single code for the 7 years between 2015 and 2022.

$$2013184152412618752 \times 21 = 42276867200664993792 = \text{YEAR 21 [2022]}$$

$$70461445334441656320 = \text{YEAR 14 TO YEAR 21}$$

As for the meaning of this code, of all the places in the Bible, and using the same decoding method as in Genesis 1:14 above, it is found in the words of Daniel 9:27. This is why men ought not to dismiss the vision of Habakkuk.

DANIEL 9:27
Then he shall confirm a covenant with many for one week; but in the middle of the week he shall bring an end to sacrifice and offering. And on the wing of abominations shall be one who makes desolate, even until the consummation, which is determined, is poured out on the desolator

PART 5

THERE is another man who has interpreted a prophecy in the Old Testament through the lens of 9/11. In an interview on Sid Roth's "It's Supernatural" TV program, Rabbi Jonathan Cahn refers to Isaiah 9:10. "The bricks have fallen down, but we will rebuild with hewn stones; the sycamores are cut down, but we will replace them with cedars."

According to the Rabbi, on 9/11 God lifted His hand of protection from the nation. Following this, nine events, called "harbingers," took place that would uncannily replicate the prophecy of Isaiah 9:10. The grim message of the harbingers is that America is now under God's unrelenting judgment because of the same spirit of defiance, and like Israel of old, her destruction is certain. Rabbi Cahn says that these judgments have already begun and are patterned after the shmita or sabbatical years on the Hebrew calendar. They are reflected in the two greatest stock market crashes on the last days of the shmita years 5761 (2001) and 5768 (2008). Does this sound familiar?

In the table below we display the multiplied mode (M) of the Hebrew words in Isaiah 9:10 (as opposed to the AD code in the previous tables). This code is simply the product of the values shown below the words. The full multiplied (M) code of Isaiah 9:10 is 84950623715328. You can easily check this yourself by multiplying all the letter values displayed below.

The timeline in THE EQUATION has been derived from the instruction in Habakkuk to "Write down clearly on clay tablets what I reveal to you" (Habakkuk 2:2 – Good News Bible). This is the revelation or vision that began on 28 August 2001 and ended on 9/11. The reason why the codes of Isaiah 9:10 and Habakkuk 2:2 match is because they tell the same story.

WRITE DOWN CLEARLY ON CLAY TABLETS WHAT I REVEAL TO YOU

Somewhere, sometime, some people may begin to believe that the future is not hidden or too difficult to understand. What a day that will be!
